

August 27, 2018

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to verify that Nicholas Jenkins attended the 2018 Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR) Summer Program in Quantitative Methods of Social Research as a Program Scholar and completed the following workshop(s). Had the workshop(s) been taken for official academic credit, Nicholas Jenkins would have received the indicated grade(s):

Bayesian Modeling for the Social Sciences I: Introduction and Application

Instructors: Ryan Bakker (University of Georgia), Johannes Karreth (Ursinus College)
Grade: A

Multilevel Models I: Introduction and Application

Instructor: Mark Manning (Wayne State University)
Grade: A

The ICPSR Summer Program in Quantitative Methods of Social Research serves the social science community by offering a comprehensive, integrated program of studies in research design, statistics, data analysis, and social methodology. It is an intensive professional/doctoral level seminar program. Participants electing workshops in the Program have the opportunity to complete in four weeks the equivalent of a college semester of course work at the University of Michigan.

Should you have any questions or need further verification regarding the above information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Saundra K. Schneider
Director
ICPSR Summer Program in Quantitative Methods of Social Research